

Would you like to focus more on your core business?

Do you want to get the best from your treatment plant?

Are you looking for a reputable partner capable of managing your installation even more effectively?

Contact Paques Services for contracting out the operational management and monitoring of your treatment plant. We provide a wide range of services enabling us to guarantee the optimal operation of your treatment plant, as well as the minimisation of operational costs and risks. We offer these services for both Paques installations and treatment plants provided by other suppliers.

Our method of work involves first discussing your requirements and wishes and then offering a custom-made solution. Our service team, which has access to the entire range of know-how in our company, performs the actual services. Expect high quality, competitive solutions from this team.

At your disposal: our service products

Paques Services is devoted to getting the best out of your treatment plant. You can select any of our service products, from innovative remote process monitoring to integrated on-site supervision, or create your own service formula. Paques offers you high quality service based on a spirit of transparency and partnership.

Process Management Service

Our process specialists conduct remote monitoring of your treatment plant. All your process parameters are collected on a daily basis and subsequently thoroughly analysed and converted into data that are valuable for your on-site specialists and managers. Long-term trend monitoring supports the generation of recommendations geared to identifying and reducing operational risks and costs. You can also test the performance of your installation by means of benchmarking. This clearly demonstrates good/poor performance and helps establish operating best practice.

Trouble Shooting

Our trouble-shooters monitor the most critical parameters of your installation on-line in order to guarantee the reliable operation of the treatment process. Automatic alarms enable you to take action to prevent impending disruptions. You can contact our trouble-shooters by telephone at our technological helpdesk.

Process and Equipment Audit

Our expert auditors will check your treatment plant on a regular basis. During these audits we will examine your installation and provide your operators with information regarding a correct operation. Reports identifying critical points relating to both the process and the equipment are drawn up after every audit. The Process and Equipment Audit provides you with clear information on the condition of your installation, helping to increase its life span and reliability.

Technical Support

Technical support is custom-made for your treatment plant. This may involve preventive maintenance or the repair of essential components. A team of high quality technicians is at your disposal at all times. This effective contracting out of your technical operations ensures that your installation is always in top condition.

Technological Coaching

You are given personal assistance by our specialists in your sector regarding all the technological aspects of your treatment plant. Combined specialist know-how guarantees both optimal operation of your installation and dynamic integration with your specific production process. This keeps you at the cutting edge of the latest biological developments. We work together with you to devise the best solution for every question or problem. You can also arrange our assistance according to your wishes.

Operating Service

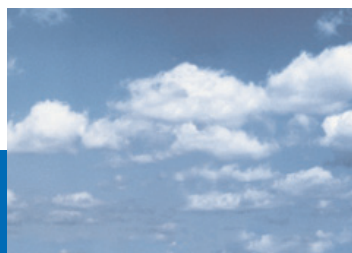

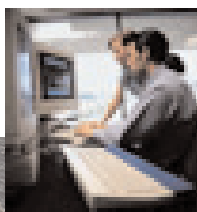

Contracting both monitoring and the operational activities relating to your treatment plant out to us means that we handle the problems. This service enables us to guarantee the optimal and safe operation of your installation at the lowest possible operational costs. Our service team, consisting of experienced operators, is on stand-by.

Improvement Economy Reliability: Paques Services gives you the right solutions for your operational requirements. We take over the care of your treatment plant with due regard for your aims, requirements and wishes.

For optimal operation of your treatment plant

Paques Services is a department of Paques. For more than fifteen years, Paques has developed and produced high-quality, cost-effective purification systems for water, gases and air, using innovative biotechnology. Our aim is to provide solutions to industrial problems with our extensive range of purification techniques. The added value of the treatment process is most important, such as the re-use of water, the generation of energy by the conversion of residual organic compounds, and the reclamation of valuable substances from the waste water. This way, we bridge the gap between environmental responsibility and economic progress.
